

Bidding Goodbye Soon.....

Come May this year, another NDA employee will bid adieu to government service. This time, it will be Dominador G. Victorio, Jr. fondly called "Jun".

After 27 years in service, it is time to leave government per mandatory requirement on retirement! But before we finally say goodbye, let's take a closer look at the life of Jun.

Born in Sta. Cruz, Manila, Jun had his primary schooling at Grace Park, Caloocan City. He went to Palawan for his secondary school and went back to Manila after graduation to pursue tertiary education at the Holy Trinity College in Quezon City (BSC major in Banking and Finance). He eventually landed a job in 1985 at the then Dairy Division of the Bureau of Animal Industry (BAI), as a laborer based in Sta. Maria, Bulacan.

A year after, he was promoted as Milk Collector, a Dairy Technician , and a Salesman in that order, until he took a three year leave of absence until 1991.

Then he returned to BAI, this time, as Heavy Equipment Operator cum Delivery Man. His route included leading supermarkets in Metro Manila like the CVC and the Department of Agriculture and other government institutions. He carried out these functions until the personnel of the Dairy Division of the bureau together with the personnel of the abolished Philippine Dairy Corporation (PDC) were merged with the newly created National Dairy Authority (NDA).

A few months from now, Jun will retire as Property Officer II of the NDA.....Life in government according to him is a merry mix of joy and hardship. But for him, this did not matter. He just attended to his job as required. This bode well for him, earning the respect and camaraderie of his co-employees.

Being a total entertainer (a good singer and a musician as well), parties would be dull sans Jun on the keyboard. A funny guy with a sunny disposition, he was recently awarded as the Best Dressed Male Employee of the Year during our Luau party last December.

Keep up the good work and enjoy your coming "Apo"stolic works now that you're also a Grandpa. Cheers!
